INTRODUCING THE PORSCHE BOXSTER AND CARRERA BLACK EDITIONS

📅 5/18/2015 ⌚ 8:16 EST 📁 FILED TO: PORSCHE 991, PORSCHE BOXSTER 👤 BY: SEAN CRIDLAND 💬 COMMENT

Each car is a special package edition which includes several options in one package. Similarly outfitted vehicles optioned separately would cost thousands of dollars more. Both Black edition cars include Porsche Communication Management (PCM) with navigation module, automatically dimming rear-view mirrors, rain sensor, cruise control and Sport Design steering wheel.

THE 911 CARRERA BLACK EDITION

It's based on the base model with a 3.4 liter flat engine developing 350 hp (257 kW) but includes special wheels, headlights and sound system as standard. It is offered as coupé and convertible versions with rear-wheel or all-wheel drive. The special edition runs on 20-inch 911 Turbo wheels and the LED headlights including the Porsche Dynamic Light System Plus (PDLS+)* are part of the standard equipment. The driver and passenger sit on heated sports seats, and the standard Bose® Surround Sound System provides excellent sound quality. Additional standard equipment include the telephone module, Park Assist at front and rear and a reversing camera.

THE BOXSTER BLACK EDITION *

The mid-engine roadster is powered by the 2.7 liter flat engine with 265 hp (195 kW). The color concept remains consistent when it comes to the soft top and rollover protection bar, which are both in black. The wind deflector helps to avoid turbulence when the soft top is down. The 20-inch Carrera Classic wheels and the bi-xenon headlights with Porsche Dynamic Light System (PDLS) are standard. The driver and passenger can enjoy a higher level of personal comfort with the two-zone air conditioning and heated seats. The standard sound system in the Boxster Black Edition is the high-quality Sound Package Plus.
